Manage Vacation Rule for Delegating Approvals

This guide will cover:
- Creating vacation rules which will delegate your approvals to others while you are out.

Manage Vacation Rule for Delegating Approvals is a process used if you have a need to be away from the office for an extended period of time for vacation or other unrelated reasons. Before being out of the office, you can delegate your approvals to someone so while you are out other employees are not waiting on your approval to complete daily business processes.

Assigning a vacation rule and delegating your approvals will delegate BOTH Finance and HR transactions. If it’s crucial to split the approvals between Finance and HR, please submit a ticket through userhelp@uwyo.edu.

It is recommended that you only delegate approvals to individuals who either share the same security access or higher. The process of delegating tasks to subordinates or other individuals exists across several business processes within WyoCloud. Below are just a few examples of what types of approvals would be delegated:
